General License Terms for Hitachi Software

Dear Ladies and Gentlemen,

our General License Terms for Hitachi Software are as follows:

Via buying the software you have the right to install the software on the data acquisition PC attached to the SEM to acquire and treat the data. This right is regulated by a dongle and the dongle you get through purchasing the software. In addition you are allowed to install the software on additional PC's, and to move your dongle between the different PC's. If you want to use the software in parallel on different PC'S for offline analysis of the acquired data you have to order either additional dongles for the software or an unlimited network license.

For further questions please get back to us.

Yours sincerely,

Jürgen Simon
